

Orbit Research Product Line

| Product                                           | Description                                                                                                                                                                         | Picture                                                                             | Link                                                                                                        |
|---------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Orbit Player                               | The Orbit Media Player is a versatile, user-friendly device designed to enhance accessibility for blind and visually impaired individuals.                                          |    | Link   |
| Orbit Speak                                | A compact, affordable speech-based braille notetaker with a Perkins-style keyboard and high-quality speech output.                                                                  |    | Link   |
| Orbit Speak Plus                           | The Orbit Speak Plus is a speech-based notetaker and entertainment center with a braille keypad, designed to offer a convenient and efficient way take notes and access information |    | Link   |
| Orbit Chat                                 | An app that enables deafblind people to communicate with sighted, blind or deaf people using their Orbit Reader braille display using a chat-style experience.                      |    | Link   |
| Orbit Teacher                              | A platform for teachers to interact with blind and deaf-blind students through an app on their devices, with real-time translation of braille.                                      |  | Link |
| Orbit Reader 20 + Orbit Chat Tablet Bundle | A solution for deafblind communication through a chat-style experience using a specialized app on a tablet and a braille display.                                                   |  | Link |

| Product                     | Description                                                                                                                                                                                              | Picture                                                                               | Link                                                                                                          |
|-----------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Orbit Reader 20      | A 3-in-1 device with 20 braille cells that function as a book reader, note-taker, and braille display.                                                                                                   |    | Link   |
| Orbit Reader 20 Plus | A 3-in-1 device with 20 braille cells, that functions as a Braille display, note-taker, and book reader, and includes a clock, alarm, calendar, and calculator.                                          |    | Link   |
| Orbit Reader 40      | A multi-function device with 40 braille cells and cursor routing buttons, that functions as a Braille display, note-taker, and book reader. Includes a clock, alarm, calendar, and calculator.           |    | Link   |
| Orbit Reader Q20     | A 20-cell braille device with a full-size QWERTY keyboard and cursor routing buttons. Works as a braille display, note-taker and book reader, with clock, alarm, calendar, and calculator.               |   | Link  |
| Orbit Reader Q40     | A 40-cell braille device with a full-size QWERTY keyboard and cursor routing buttons. Functions as a braille display, note-taker, and book reader, with built-in clock, alarm, calendar, and calculator. |  | Link |
| Orbit Writer         | The perfect smartphone companion - a compact and versatile braille keyboard that instantly connects with smartphones and computers via Bluetooth or USB.                                                 |  | Link |

Innovations in Affordable Accessibility

www.orbitresearch.com
information@orbitresearch.com

+1-888-606-7248

www.orbitresearch.com

Orbit Research Product Line

| Product                | Description                                                                                                                                                                   | Picture                                                                             | Link                                                                                                        |
|------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Orbit Slate 520 | A compact, 5-line, 20- cell Braille display that offers real-time, signage-quality refreshable Braille.                                                                       |    | Link   |
| Orbit Slate 340 | A compact, 3-line, 40- cell Braille display that offers real-time, signage-quality refreshable Braille.                                                                       |    | Link   |
| Graphiti        | An Interactive Tactile Graphics Display that provides non-visual access to any form of graphical information using a touch interface and an array of multi-level moving pins. |    | Link   |
| Graphiti Plus   | A revolutionary device for the blind, offering real-time tactile graphics and braille in one device. It has a touch interface, TrueBraille™ cells, and multi-level pins.      |   | Link  |
| Optima          | A fully configurable and upgradeable Windows-based laptop computer with braille and speech output, QWERTY keyboard, Wi-Fi 6E, Thunderbolt, USB and other ports.               |  | Link |

| Product                        | Description                                                                                                                                                                      | Picture                                                                               | Link                                                                                                          |
|--------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Orbit Magna 3           | A lightweight handheld electronic magnifier with a 3.5-inch HD screen, 2x-32x magnification range, 16 color modes, and a foldable stand.                                         |    | Link   |
| Orbit Magna 4           | A lightweight handheld electronic magnifier with a 4.3-inch high-definition LCD screen, 4x-32x magnification range, 16 high contrast color enhancing modes and a fold-out handle |    | Link   |
| Orbit Magna 5           | A lightweight handheld electronic magnifier with a 5-inch high-definition LCD screen, 4x-32x magnification range, 16 high contrast color enhancing modes and a fold-out handle   |    | Link   |
| Orion TI-84 Plus        | A fully accessible version of the TI-84 Plus handheld graphing calculator that provides speech, audio, and haptic feedback.                                                      |   | Link  |
| Orion TI-30XS Multiview | A fully accessible version of the TI-30XS Multiview scientific calculator that provides speech output.                                                                           |  | Link |

Innovations in Affordable Accessibility
www.orbitresearch.com